EVILS OF THE "FARM" SYSTEM

What Is Thought of the Washington Toronto Methods - Manager Hanlon Well Pleased With the Orioles for the Season of 1898-Other Interesting Items.

The evils of the "farming" system as exemplified by the fake draft of players from the Toronto team by Washington cause the baseball editor of the Springfield Union to make a few remarks. Among other things, he says: "This matter if irwin's farm has made the Eastern League the laughing stock of the several lengues of the country. There can benot the slightest doubt that the Eastern League moguls were one and all firmly convinced that livin's Toronto team was farmed for Washington last season, and that Eastern League rules were violated in spirit all season long by the artful Canuck. In no other way could many of his transaction be accounted for, although Irwin had himself interviewed on every possible occasion and attempted to explain away his farming transaction and got mixed up, contradicted bimself, and belied Earl Wagner's statements repeatedly. But Irwin had so cleverty covered up his tracks by careful no actual proof to be had against him. but the mogula failed to pinch Irwinin any way of even to take measures which would pre-vent a repetition of his farming scheme next year. This can be accounted for in only two ways. Either Irwin bad them all hypnotized or the mogula intend to practice the same methods themselves next-year and did not Want-to prevent it. "As matters stand at present, the Toronto club will be 'Wagnersfarm' next year, just as ties year. In fact, it has already been effect Catev and Outfielder White will be returned to the Toronto aunex after the drafting season expires. At the time of was believed that they were simply trans ferred from the books of the Toronto club to Washington's books in order to prevent a possible draft by other clubs. For it any National League club were to attempt t draft a Toronto player it could be done on the face of the records and the whole scheme would have to be exposed in order ship of the Toronto players Earl Wagner ould have to give the whole snap away just as Pittsburg did in proving ownership In the Eagan deal. It is much easier and safer to 'draft' the players and then 'release' them back to Irwin after the drafting season has expired. Just as in the case of White and Casey. How many more of certain, but it is certain that any who are retained in Washington will be replaced satisfactorily by Wagner."

Ed. Herilon, manager of the Orioles, is greatly pleased with the make-up of his team for the country season. "I believe the Baltimore club, as a present constituted, is considerably the strongest club we ever had. The more I hear of McGsun and the more I think of it, the better pleased I am with the recent exchange of players with Washing of the most advantageous deals we ever Arthur Irwin had praised McGam to me before. But that was while he had I wrote to Irwin recently, asking him for his candid opinion of McGinn's ability. I told him that if McGann was not strong enough for a championship team I would like to know it, so that I could be casting about for a first-class man for Five Men and a Horse Have Made Over $200,000-Mike Conley, the Ithaca Giant, Believes That Fitzimmous Will Fight Again-Interest in Aquatics at Yale.

That the coming outdoor racing on the cycle racing path will be the most interesting that this or any other country

The stories of Michael's success and the sometimes exaggerated statements as to the amount of money made by the little Welshman, Eddie Bald, Gardiner, Cooper, Kiser and other successful circuit-chasers that have reached the other side of the ocean have created a general desire on the part of British and Continental riders to come to America and gather a crop of Yankee dollars.

While there is at present a large contingent of foreign crack-a-jacks here, including many of the best riders in all Europe, within three months' time it will be much larger. Champions and recordholders who have been earning big salaries by riding in and about London and Paris are coming over, and with them a corps of French pacemakers.

All French riders are good pacemakers. Individually the men who ride the 'quints.' 'quads" and "sexs" in a big match race in Paris are men like Golgoltz, who is last enough to ride anybody for a mile, and then they know how to work together.

Tom Linton, the hour champion, will forsake France for a year of racing in America. He will ride an American whiel and will have the best pacemakers avail-

Between trained brains and trained muscles there is room for argument in this progressive day, when the gauge of that measure the records of a year show some notable exceptions to the rule putting intellectuality first.

The most conspicuous case is that litzsimmons, whose power at punching, has earned for him as much as the combined salaries of the President and Vice Post lent of the United States. In that instance the ne big bang first that put former Champion its owner in the way of enjoying an income that the combined intelligence of the two men holding the first place of honor in the gift of a great nation does not warn. Close behind the prize fighter Fitzsimions comes a midget rider of race borses. Jockey Tod Slean, whose earnings, through his skill in the saddle, put him on an equality with President McKinley, and greatly exceed the earnings of many of the foremost men in the learned professions. Slota's earnings are estimated to be not less than
